1. On 6 October 1953, the Ziethen Kaserne in Frankfurt/Oder, as previously, was occupied about 33 percent by about 1,000 troops including uniformed women, wearing red-bordered black epaulets with artillery and tank insignia. On 26 September, about 80 soldiers entered the barracks installation, coming from the direction of Muellrose. On 29 September, about 200 troops were seen in the barracks yard, lined up for an arms inspection, while about 80 troops practiced throwing of hand grenades in the area near the water tower, about 30 troops received instruction on mortars west of the installation and about 30 uniformed women engaged in physical training in the barracks yard. On 5 October, 2 light armored scout cars were seen entering the installation, coming from the direction of Muellrose.

13. On 15 October, the Ziethen Kaserne was occupied by about 200 troops wearing red-bordered black epaulets. On 8 October, about 100 troops were clearing up the barracks area and were maintaining several trucks. On 15 October, source did not observe any training activity.¹
14. During the period under review, source determined that the Schmidt-Rosengarten sawmill and carpentry, which employed about 100 workmen, got an order for windows, doors and floors for barracks installations under construction in Lieberose and Kuedersdorf.

1. [] Comment. The present information, to a certain degree, supports the previously carried and/or assumed distribution of units in the barracks installations in Frankfurt/Oder, which, with the 7th Gds Mecz Div differed from that prior to the summer training period. See

[] The retransfer from Lieberose of tank units of the division on 3 trains had already been indicated [] on 9 October. The troops observed on 11 October presumably were units of the 25th Gds Mecz Regt of the Div, which may have returned from exercises of the division, probably in the area east of Fuerstenwalde. Although, according to information by other sources, these exercises were still under way on 15 October, they, as well as the employment in Berlin of presumably a mechanized regiment of the division, would account for the rather light occupation of the barracks installations of the division in mid-October.

Sources of paragraphs 1 to 3 and 8 to 14 had also differed considerably on the occupation strength of the Eichhorn Kaserne in the first mentioned reference report. As the installation is believed to include transient quarters for the personnel exchange, this barracks may quarter a considerably number of troops temporarily stationed there, in addition to occupation of about 400 troops of a guard and komendatura unit.
